DETAILED ACTIONElection/Restrictions

In response to the Applicant's traversal of the election of species requirement set forth by the Examiner, multiple species are considered to be a burden on the Examiner; furthermore, the Applicant merely needs to state on the record that the individual species are obvious variants in order to overcome the election of species requirement. However, because the Applicant has not stated such, then the Applicant agrees that the listed Species are in fact patentably distinct Species. As a result, multiple species are considered to be burden on the Examiner to search.

The Applicant elected claims 9, 11 and 12 with traverse

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 9, 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Saverslak U.S. Patent 3,036,922. Saverslak teaches a process of preparing a boneless cooked poultry product. More specifically, various embodiments are discussed for processing a portion of the carcass to the entire carcass into a boneless poultry product. In column 4, seventh paragraph, "the entire body is ensheathed in the skin casing .....". Further, conventional stitching allows the product to be sealed substantially with the same meat or portion or the entire boneless poultry product..

Regarding claims 11 and 12, the poultry carcass skin is broadly considered to be a wrapping as claimed by the Applicant.

Conclusion

Summary: Claims 9, 11 and 12 are rejected.
